

THE GREAT TAMING FORCE

(originally published in Sequoia/The Stanford Literary Magazine)

As a child, he ran with horses, cradled a young bull before it sprung horns, and watched:
the moon paint herself with leaf and feather,
the moon cry out in shadows and owls,
and how Heaven, that sad, blue beast blessed him with rain and no rain.